SUNDAY OF ST. THOMAS

Thomas doubted. That is why we call him Doubting Thomas. The news he heard on that first glorious day, that you were risen from the dead, O Lord, was just so wonderful, so unbelievable, that he would not believe it for himself unless You showed him it was true. And you did! You came and said to him, "Reach out your hand and touch my side, and see my hands and feet."

Then he believed, with no more doubt. With all that happened the last few days, our minds just could not accept nor understand. And so when something even more astounding occurred, no wonder people just could not grasp. They wanted to believe; but having endured the incomprehensible, they dared venture not more. You did not have to encounter so tenderly Your disciple Thomas, but it was typically kind of You to take the time and effort to come again and show poor doubting Thomas that the best good news the world has ever heard was really true. Thank you, dear Lord for wiping away the doubt of Thomas, and of everybody else who ever doubts that it is You. If I should ever doubt like Thomas, be there, dear Lord to multiply the faith I have in You.

CHRIST IS RISEN!

He arose because His life could not be locked in death. He arose because the grave could not hold Him. He arose, for He had an appointment with God. He arose because He had told His disciples He would. He arose to bring redemption. He arose to be the unshakable Rock. He arose because He had a purpose to fulfill. He arose because He had a task to perform. He arose because He has a Church to build. He arose to be the Head of the Church. He arose to preside over the altar. He arose to wash men's sin away. He arose because He has a Comforter to send unto men. He arose to rule in the pure heart. He arose, for He has life to impart. He arose, for He has the light...the only light of men. He arose because He has healing for the ill. He arose because He has the answer for life's great questions. He arose because He loved with a deathless love. He arose because He has some mansions to prepare. He arose to walk again with men. He arose to call again, again, and again. He arose to inspire men to be righteous. He arose to help carry burdens...heavy burdens. He arose to show the way beyond the grave. He arose to speak to the hearts of men. He arose to condemn sin and evil. He arose to console and pity and understand. He arose to inspire preachers and empower sermons. He arose to condemn sin forever. He arose to be a King...forever a King.

He lives! He lives! He forever lives!
