MEMORIAL DAY

Memorial Day was first established to honor those who had given their lives fighting for our country, and our war dead still receive special attention. The custom of placing small American flags on the graves of those who died in battle and for other veterans is one way of calling attention to those who risk -and at times lost their lives in our nation's defense. As time has gone on, the day also has been used as an opportunity to remember all of our deceased loved ones.

Remembering our dead seems to be a natural human instinct. It is impossible to find a society anywhere on earth in any century that has not given the dead honor and respect. For a Catholic, however, it is much more than a matter of mere instinct. For the Catholic, honoring the dead is a serious responsibility; and the reason lies at the heart of our Faith. As Catholics, we believe that there is no fundamental division between the living and the dead. When we are baptized into Christ, we are irrevocably connected, not only to Him, but to all others who also have been baptized into Him.

We become parts of the one Body of Christ, and as such we are all mutually interconnected. Death does nothing to change this. Since our baptism is eternal, it extends beyond our death. Thus, our connection to each other stretches beyond the great chasm of death and continues to link us to all those who have gone before us. This is the Communion of Saints we profess belief in every Sunday.

On this Memorial Day, we must be sure not to allow our loved ones to go without regard. By all means, we should take the time to enjoy ourselves with our families; our deceased loved ones would want that for us. But the day should not pass without a visit to the cemetery to spend some time at their graves.

HEART PRAYER

God, please give me a heart that can hold all of the good things in life: a heart with compassion and kindness, with gentleness and patience, and a heart that is open to spontaneity and joy. Please form in me a heart that listens to all your messages of love; one that trusts, always, looking for the goodness hidden in others; one that will readily share the gifts you have given, and one that can hope beyond difficulties. Grant me a peaceful heart that will hold on to the real values in life so that I can respond with assurance to what is important give me a heart that is grounded in love rather than fear; one that is open to the needs of others and will reach out with sincerity.
