NO PLACE LIKE HOME

Home, sweet home, be it ever so humble, There's no place like home.

Perhaps there is no word that grips us more quickly, moves us more powerfully, or retains its influence over us longer than the magic word, "home."

Further, it can wield that influence for either good or evil. The home can still be a fortress of strength for the church, community, and nation; or it can be a contributing factor to the moral disintegration of our people and nation....

But in this day of specialization we have become accustomed to farming out many of the privileges and responsibilities that once belonged to the home. The spiritual training and values that were once an integral part of the home are now farmed out to the church.

Yet there's no place like home for family prayer.

There's no place like home to demonstrate the power of love, true love, that brings unity, forbearance, patience, forgiveness, and obedience.

While we are living in a day of mass movements, mass production, and mass media where the person becomes just another cog in a huge machine or a number in a statistical file, we need to strengthen, perhaps even rebuild, the moral and spiritual foundations of the home.

A GODLY MAN

A man is never so tall as when he kneels before God. Never more dependable than when he depends upon God. Never so strong as when he draws upon God's strength.

Never so wise as when in his lack of wisdom, he seeks Divine Guidance.

Truly, the man who most relies on God will be the most reliable man.

YOU AND GOD

People are often unreasonable, illogical, and self-centered; forgive them anyway. If you are kind, people may accuse you of selfish, ulterior motives; be kind anyway. If you are successful, you will win some false friends and some true enemies; succeed anyway. What you spend years building, some could destroy overnight; build anyway. If you find serenity and happiness, they may be jealous; be happy anyway. The good you do today, people will often forget tomorrow; do good anyway. Give the world the best you have, and it may never be enough; give the world the best you've got anyway.

You see, in the final analysis, it is between you and God. It was never between you and them anyway.

WORDS OF WISDOM

Common sense is seeing things as they are, and doing things as they should be done.

God, guide me to make the right decision and give me the fortitude to cling to it against all pressures and persuasions.

Arguing with a fool shows there are two.

Happy is the man who has learned to hold the things of this world with a loose hand.

Bad habits are like comfortable beds: easy to get into but hard to get out of.

Smiles generate smiles just as love generates love.

Perfection is a long way off, but improvement can be made to happen every day.
